MFÖR Pro Humanitate, Germany for Europe

“In the poorest country in Europe, Dirk Hartig and his group are providing very professional development aid.”
Roland Gröbli, Director Clean Water Foundation

Joint projects with the Clean Water Foundation
The joint project in the Moldovan community of Carbuna involves the drilling of a 300 meter deep well and laying 1,665 meters of water piping, as well as the construction of a water storage. This benefits more than 600 people. The project counteracts diseases and the drastically shrinking depopulation, and improves the livelihoods of the inhabitants.

How they work
The goal of the NGO is to provide help, development aid and carry it out in the countries where crises or catastrophes result in poverty and deprivation. They ensure the supply of the necessities of life and provide advice and help in the health, social and education areas. The aid supplies are delivered to non-profit recipients and charitable institutions.

Who they are
The federal society is globally active focusing on Eastern Europe. Its activities include medical supply and the equipping of clinics, the construction of schools, water and seed supply as well as aid for food and clothing and much more.

Their mission
People whose basic rights are not respected and who have to leave their familiar local culture for social, economic or political reasons, do not feel well in an alien environment. This is one of the primary motives for the humanitarian aid of Pro Humanitate especially in Eastern Europe. The goal is to help self-help for the restoration of an existence worthy of human beings for the locals to conserve their native culture and environment.
